

Sustainability as Key to Innovation

Welcome to the second conference

Get ready for the 11th Reveal Conference, organised by the CIM, T4S Europe and T4SD projects and aimed at professionals and experts from all education sectors. The 11th Reveal Conference on: 29th and 30th of April!

We will present and discuss innovative approaches to trigger innovation while implementing sustainability in educational institutions, organisations and businesses.

Our December conference was held online for the first time. It received very positive feedback as it included keynotes and theoretical inputs as well as very interactive collaboration formats and even included a "cultural and social programme".

In April, we will slightly modify the programme - instead of a poster exhibition, there will be more intensive workshops on successful sustainability prototypes that have been jointly developed in online design-thinking workshops and will be implemented in 4 European organisations.

Again, we will convert as much time as possible into active development - on the afternoon of the 29th we will create new sustainability project ideas in design-based collaborative online learning sessions.

On the morning of 30 April we will meet with our community to discuss participation in ERASMUS projects, prepare new knowledge alliances and join together to form a European 'NGO'.

Join us and make European organisations and companies more sustainable and fit for the European Green Deal ...
